

Keith Cortis

Dr. Keith Cortis is the AI Lead at KPMG Malta where he specialises in AI and data-driven research, development, and innovation projects. He has led and handled projects at both a European and national level and has worked in academia, the private sector, and the public sector on numerous fields and areas. As KPMG's AI subject matter expert, he leads AI-driven projects, provides consultancy services on AI at a strategic, architectural, technical, and governance level, and delivers AI awareness sessions to help organisations understand how to best utilise and adopt AI to maximise the potential business impact.